

UPPSALA
UNIVERSITET

Errata list

This document lists errors and corresponding corrections in the comprehensive summary for the doctoral thesis: The World-Class Ordination: A Field Theory Approach to the Study of Global University Rankings

Author: Pablo Antonio Lillo Cea

Year: 2024

ISBN: 978-91-513-2032-8

Uppsala University, Sweden

Bibliographic record available via:

<http://urn.kb.se/resolve?urn=>

Corrections

References, spelling and other corrections in the text:

Location	Error	Correction
Abstract text: Page 2 and DiVA, paragraph 5, lines 3-5	Focusing on 2022 data from the Academic Ranking of World Universities, QS World University Ranking, and Times Higher Education World University Ranking using Multiple Correspondence Analysis. It finds that prestige, heavily influenced by private reputation surveys, outweighs performance or internationalisation metrics in these rankings.	Focusing on 2022 data from the Academic Ranking of World Universities, QS World University Ranking, and Times Higher Education World University Ranking the results of the Multiple Correspondence Analysis reveal that prestige, heavily influenced by private reputation surveys, outweighs performance or internationalisation metrics in these rankings.